Gut Flora Complex

Gut Flora Complex – Balancing Gut Flora

Gut flora is the term used to describe the trillions of microorganisms that inhabit everyone's digestive system. Our gut flora is mostly made up of bacteria, which can be both good and bad. The good gut flora works to keep us well by keeping our natural bacteria in a healthy balance.

But sometimes, our bodies need a little help.

Many things can upset the balance of our gut flora, including the stress of our busy lives, digestive issues, being run down, or not eating properly and generally not taking care of ourselves.

Gut Flora Complex encourages a healthy intestinal environment. By helping to maintain proper gut flora, it can work to enhance our well-being and vitality.*

What is Gut Flora Complex?

Gut Flora Complex is a uniquely formulated combination of Oregano and Anise fruit essential oils, Andrographis and Phellodendron. These potent ingredients work effectively together to help maintain beneficial gut flora. Additionally Andrographis can enhance immune system function.*

Who Needs Gut Flora Complex?

Maintaining the proper balance of gut flora is essential to keeping us well.

In our modern world just about everyone could use some gastrointestinal support. If you experience stress, digestive issues or don't eat as well as you should, chances are you could benefit from Gut Flora Complex. Your health care professional may recommend Gut Flora Complex as part of a protocol to encourage a healthy intestinal environment.*

How is Gut Flora Complex Unique?

Each Gut Flora Complex capsule is enterically coated. This enteric coating is very important, since stomach acid can degrade the active compounds. Thanks to this protective barrier, Gut Flora Complex stays intact until delivered where it's most needed – the intestine.*

To be effective, Andrographis must contain significant levels of compounds called andrographolides (measured by HPLC¹). Each Gut Flora Complex capsule is standardized to contain 10 mg of andrographolide and 36 mg of berberine, ensuring optimal quality and strength.*

MediHerb sources only the highest quality herbs, precisely monitored to deliver a consistent and effective dose.
