Adrenal Tonic Phytosynergist® – Support Your Resilience

Powerfully effective support for adrenal health

There's almost no escape from the bombardment of modern life: constant noise, frequently ringing cell phones, overflowing email inboxes, crowds of people, work challenges, taking care of kids and more.

With all these stress factors, your adrenal glands can get to a point where they're constantly "on" and you can end up feeling wiped out. Sometimes described as your system's shock absorbers, your adrenal glands are two tiny walnut-sized organs crucial for your natural response to life's many demands.

MediHerb's Adrenal Tonic Phytosynergist® is formulated to promote healthy adrenal function, support a healthy immune system response, improve overall health and help maintain a feeling of well-being even when the pressure's on.*

To help you bounce back from temporary stress and feel better naturally, take Adrenal Tonic Phytosynergist® with confidence.*

What is Adrenal Tonic Phytosynergist®?

MediHerb's Adrenal Tonic Phytosynergist® is a therapeutic liquid herbal combination of Ashwagandha root, Licorice root, Rehmannia root, Echinacea angustifolia root and Echinacea purpurea root.*

Ashwagandha has more than 4000 years of traditional use in India. Rehmannia is one of the most important herbs in Chinese traditional medicine. Both are typically used to support a healthy immune system, and to support the body when tiredness is an issue.*

The tonic actions of Licorice may help the body adapt to the challenges of short-term stress. Clinical observations have recorded that in very high doses, Licorice supports the adrenal cortex.*

Echinacea angustifolia and Echinacea purpurea have been popular in American and European medicine for hundreds of years. Various constituents in Echinacea work together to assist the body's immune system.*
